

The Worshipful Company of Clockmakers Hain Sanders Research / Personal Development Award

The Clockmakers' Company announces the launch of the Hain Sanders Research / Personal Development Award*, the purpose of which is to assist professional clockmakers and watchmakers in the learning of new skills or enhancing their personal development, and to support scientists researching the measurement of time or a closely related project.

Applicants must be either:-

1. A watchmaker or clockmaker seeking to gain new skills (not readily available on U.K. courses) or experience or a higher qualification in the UK or abroad in any aspect of watchmaking or clockmaking. Priority will be given to applicants involved in clockmaking or watchmaking rather than repair, restoration or conservation.

Or:-

2. A qualified scientist or one undertaking higher education, whose work involves researching the measurement of time or developing an aspect of its measurement for scientific purposes.
